

Perfect texts in any language

Proofreading and localisation

Benefits of optimised text

- Professional, perfect communication
- Your customers get a good first impression
- Greater credibility in export markets
- Adjusted to suit your target group
- Stronger company image

Proofreading and localisation

Proofreading

When World Translation A/S proofreads your texts and adjusts them to suit the local culture, you are ensured that your customers get a good first impression. Correct grammar and style on your website, and in your sales letters and other written documentation, is vital to your company's impact. We proofread your texts, regardless of whether they are written in English or in another language. We ensure that your texts are corrected and sharpened, so you can be sure that your company appears as credible as possible.

Localisation

In addition to comprehensive proofreading, we can also adapt your texts in relation to cultural differences, norms and standards and the use of local symbols and meanings. In the translation industry, this service is known as localisation, and it ensures that your company's communication appears professional – especially in the export market.

We adjust to suit your needs

You can choose between different types of proofreading, which can be tailored to suit your needs. Depending on your choice of proofreading package, we guarantee that your texts will be proofread and/or localised by a language expert within your field. Our native-language proofreaders also ensure that your terminology is correct – regardless of whether it relates to a quick guide for a water meter or a website about the best holiday locations.

We help you to

- localise your texts in more than 60 languages
- proofread your texts
- optimise the quality of your exiting translations
- carry out quality assurance on your terminology in English and in other languages
- assess your exiting translations

Take the next step with your project

Contact us for a non-committal chat. We look forward to hearing from you.
 Head of Translation Department
 Marion Randelshofer
 Tel.: +45 86 20 48 40
 E-mail: marion.randelshofer@worldtranslation.dk