

A large, stylized sun graphic in shades of orange and yellow, positioned in the lower-left quadrant of the page. The sun has a circular center and several pointed rays extending outwards. The background is a solid orange color.

Get your competencies certified

Training for technical writers

Benefits of certified training

- Optimisation of your technical communication
- Improved technical writing skills
- Stronger company image
- Know-how from international experts
- Access to an online forum
- Certified online trainer

Training for technical writers

When you join the training for technical writers at World Translation A/S, you learn all about the latest knowledge in this field and your competencies are professionally certified. It is important for us that your education is in the best possible hands, so we support you through the entire process.

TCTrainNet

The TCTrainNet online training course lasts for 36 weeks and on average, course participants spend seven hours a week studying. The training is conducted in English via a personal web portal. The training content was developed by experienced and well respected technical communication experts from industry and academia, together with German tekomp e.V., Europe's largest professional association for technical communication. Throughout the training course you will be assigned a certified trainer, whom you can contact directly if you need help.

Curriculum

- Context Analysis
- Planning
- Concept Development
- Content Creation
- Media Production, Publication and Distribution

We adjust to suit your needs

You manage your own time, which means you decide when you want to study and where, so the course easily fits in with your working week. When you participate in the TCTrainNet online training programme, you join an online forum with all of the other participants. This allows you to exchange and discuss ideas about individual tasks. Our trainer is certified by German tekomp e.V. and has many years of experience as a technical writer for various international companies.

Take the next step with your project

Contact us for a non-committal chat. We look forward to hearing from you.
Per Harbo Sørensen
Certified Trainer in Technical Communication
Tel.: +45 86 20 48 44
E-mail: per.soerensen@worldtranslation.dk